

Editorial Comment.

Ye men who won in politics,
Are still deep in a jolly fix,
Before you read your titles clear,
Must run another race this year,
'Tis all right now, but just remember,
Three months ahead will come November.

The Webster county fair is being held at Providence this week.

F. A. Casner has been appointed postmaster at Providence, Ky. He succeeds R. W. Hunter, who resigned recently.

Representative R. Y. Thomas, Jr.
of Greenville, cut a House doorkeeper named Goodlett with a knife in an altercation at a Washington Hotel.

A leopard which had escaped
from a circus at Crookstown, Minn., attacked two children, whose lives were saved by a Collie dog which fought the leopards and was killed by it.

T. T. Hanberry, Republican postmaster at Eddyville, has resigned and will resume the practice of law.
Frank Withers, of that place, and
B. T. Mayhew, of Lamasco, are applicants for the position.

The annual reunion and picnic of the I. O. O. F. of Kentucky and Indiana will be held at Fountain Ferry Park, Louisville, August 14 and 15.
At least 20,000 members of the order are expected to attend.

Roland Jenkins, of Collville, was killed and Arden Parrish and Mrs.
Kenneth Sigler, of Providence, were seriously injured when a Louisville & Nashville passenger train struck the automobile in which they were riding.

Reductions in express rates which will cost the companies fully $26-000,000 a year, approximately 16 per cent of their gross revenue, have been ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to become effective on or before October 15, 1913.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Forbes Manufacturing Company
The Low Bidders On Building.

FIGURES $600 TOO HIGH.

Certain Minor Changes To Be Made To Come Within The Limit.

Bids for the construction of the new Carnegie Library on the corner of Tenth and Campbell streets, in Peace Park, were opened Tuesday and of several bids that of Forbes Manufacturing Co. was the lowest,
but it was about $600 or $700 beyond the limit. It is probable that the specifications will be altered to come within the $15,000 limit and that an early contract will be entered into for the erection of the building.

ANOTHER MOTOR CAR.

Market Gardener Put One Into Service This Week.

J. W. Keeling, who runs a market garden on the Russellville road, was not only nominated for magistrate
this week, but took an advance step in his business by putting into service a new motor car. The car, excepting the machinery, was built by the Forbes Manufacturing Co. Mr.
Keeling lays some claim to being the champion strawberry grower. With his motor car he can now place his vegetables on the market in the morning before the dew of night has disappeared.

SAFE BLOWERS AT CROFTON

Secured About One Hundred Dollars In Stamps
and Left.

$400 IN ANOTHER SAFE
Two Men Arrested Here An Hour After the Robbery
Of the Postoffice.

The supposed professional cracks-
men broke the glass out of the door of the postoffice at Crofton Tuesday morning and then with nitroglycerine blew the door off the safe and secured nearly $100 in stamps, mostly parcel post stamps.

The particulars of the visit of the safe blowers were given by Mr. M. A. Brown, a son of Postmaster M. B. Brown, who has held the office for fifteen years. He recently asked the postoffice department to relieve him, but his request has not been granted.

The explosion was at 2:45 a. m.,
the time being indicated by the clock
in the office, which was stopped by the jar of the explosion. It was heard only by Will Boyd, who was in his room about 30 feet from the postoffice and was awake at the time, owing to sickness. As soon as he heard the explosion he called Mr.
M. A. Brown, who lives about 300 yards from the postoffice, who took his gun and went at once to the postoffice. Mr. Boyd in the meantime had reconnoitered and saw three men near the hotel. When he approached them the men walked off.
Brown and Boyd, knowing that it was about time for the Southbound fast freight to come in, stationed themselves where they could see them get on the train. They did not see them get on, but saw them
on it as the train passed them. Mr.
Brown at once telephoned to police headquarters here, telling the night
office man of what had occurred.
Lieut. Hawkins and Officers Haydon, Anderson, Witherspoon, Barnett and Carter went up the track to Fourth street and flagged the train, which came to a stop.

Lieut. Hawkins climbed up on the car and arrested one of the men, catching him by the foot as he lay on the car. The other two descended from the car and one of them was grabbed by the other officers, but the other made a dash for liberty
down Fourth street pursued by Officer Anderson. Reaching the river he ran across without stopping and disappeared on the west side.

The two men, who would not give their names when arrested, were taken to police headquarters and afterwards were placed in the lockup. Both of them denied their guilt but were held on the charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Each of the men arrested had a fine Colt's pistol in his pocket. They are rough looking men and one of them has but one eye. After the train on which they were stealing a ride had passed here and gone some distance some of the crew found the stamps on top of the car. They telegraphed their find to Postmaster
Brown at Crofton.

There was another safe in the postoffice which the cracksmen had endeavored to get into. This safe contained the reserve stamps of the office, amounting to nearly $400.
Mr. M. A. Brown had considerable difficulty in getting the safe open,
owing to the efforts of the robbers
to do the same thing. He found that they had tried to get in the safe
by pounding the bolts with a sledge hammer.

Later the men gave their names
as J. B. Benson and Tom Price.
Benson had a certificate from Dr.
J. B. Cummins, of Lexington, Ky., as a worthy object of charity. This certificate may lead to the identification of at least one of them.
The men will be turned over to the

HOSPITAL CONTRACT LET

No Deviation From Original
Plans by Louisville Architects.

GROUND BROKEN WEDNESDAY

Local Company Made Lowest
and Best Bid Over Competitors.

After many unavoidable delays,
the Trustees of the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital, at their meeting held last Tuesday, awarded the contract for building the hospital to the Forbes Mfg. Co. There were several contractors who wanted to secure the contract, but the local company
submitted the lowest and best bid.

The trustees want it generally known that, in deference to the wishes of Dr. Stuart, there was no deviation whatever in the plans and specifications of the architects. The most minute details will be carried out and ground was broken Wednesday for the foundation.

The site for the building was selected some time since by the Trustees. It is situated on the South side of West Seventeenth street, near Kenton street. It is highly located and in a quiet part of the city.
A concrete sidewalk from Main street is to be put down and shade trees are to be planted at proper distances. The location is in every way ideal and the handsome building will be quite an addition to that part of the city.

Dr. Stuart is enthusiastic over the action of the Trustees, and in a talk with the Trustees said, "Now, boys, go ahead and build the hospital. If I live longer than I expect to, or longer than you expect me to, I may come down and stay awhile myself."

It will be remembered that this noble-hearted man not only gave the cash money for building the hospital to perpetuate the memory of his deceased wife, but all his other property at his death passes into the hands of the trustees for the use of the hospital.

federal authorities for prosecution.
A postoffice inspector is expected here on any train to look into the cases of the two prisoners. That the action of the Government will take precedence of the Commonwealth is generally conceded.

EARLY MARRIAGE

Dr. Thompson United the Destinies of Miss Smithson and Mr. Jackson.

Miss Mary Smithson and Mr. Chas.
Jackson, Jr., were married Tuesday morning by Dr. C. M. Thompson, at his home Tuesday morning. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs.
Verna Smithson, Mr. Oscar Howell
and Miss Willie Smithson. After the ceremony they took the Southbound L. & N. train for Chattanooga, where they will remain for a short time.

The bride has been cashier for J.
H. Anderson & Co., for several years and is one of the best known and most popular young ladies in the city. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smithson. Mr. Jackson has been in the shoe department of the same house for some time. The wedding was a surprise to nearly everybody, even to some of the people in the stores, but the engagement is said to have existed for two years.

Moved on Virginia St.

Mr. Chas. O. Prowee has rented one of the Graves cottages on Virginia street and gone to house keeping. He and his family previously

TIE VOTE IN ONE RACE

Ira D. Smith Wins By the Toss Of a Silver Dollar.

HARRIS AND McGEE WON

Official Canvass Makes But Few
Minor Changes In First Reports.

The County Board of Election Commissioners met Tuesday and canvassed the returns of the Democratic and Republican official primary elections held Saturday. But few minor changes were made by the official count. Frank Rives for County Attorney gained one vote in Hopkinsville No. 7, the result in that race resulting in a tie, both Rives and Ira D. Smith having 1327 votes. L. J. Harris gained one vote over R. T. Stowe for County Clerk, making his majority 23. W. J. Mc-Gee for Assessor lost one, leaving his plurality 24.

Other official results are shown in the following table.

The Board met again yesterday to complete its canvass and to consider the tie in the race for County Attorney.

SMITH WINS.

Yesterday morning in the Circuit Court room the commissioners ordered that the tie be settled by lot and it was done in the presence of eight or ten witnesses.

Mr. Rives selected S. Y. Trimble and Mr. Smith selected James Breatheitt, Sr., to toss the coins for them. Two silver dollars were tossed at the same time. On the first throw, if the coins matched it was to be Rives. They came up different, which gave first blood to Smith. On the second toss the coins were to match for Smith and they came up matching. This gave Mr.
Smith the victory without a third toss being necessary.

PRESIDENT TAKES FIELD

Gomez Leads His Own Army
Against Castro's Revolutionists.

GOVERNMENT IS MOVING.

Well-Equipped Army of Several Thousand Starts Out to Do Up Castro.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 6—An army of 7,000 men, comprising three brigades divided into seven regiments of infantry and one of artillery, left Caracas to-day to operate against the rebel followers of ex-President Cipriano Castro. A medical corps with Sisters of Charity acting as nurses accompanied the forces.

President Juan Vicente Gomez will leave the capital to-morrow and lead
the army to Maracay, fifty miles southwest of Caracas.

Castro, in his revolutionary campaign to overthrow the Gomez administration and regain the presidency, has under his command, according to latest advices, about 12,000 men.

Castro is reported to have been received enthusiastically when he landed at Coro, in the state of Falcon. He is now said to be marching against Barquisimeto, capital of the state of Lara, at the head of 4,000 men.

Two of Castro's adherents, General
Rosario Gonzalez and General
Penuela, who crossed into Venezuelan territory with 3,000 followers, are reported to be augmenting their rebel army
as they proceed through the inland towns.

Generals Navas and Araujo, two of Castro's lieutenants operating in the state of Zulia, are leading 2,500 men against Maracaibo, capital of the state and the principal seaport of Venezuela.

LONG OCEAN TRIP

Little Craft Went From Michigan to Russia.

Seafaring Motor Boat 35 Feet Long Sets Remarkable Record—Voyage Completed in Less Than Two Months From Home.

When the staunch motor boat Detroit set out from the city whose name it bore, with St. Petersburg, Russia, as its final destination, wise aces shook their heads at the idea of so diminutive a craft, propelled by a gasoline engine, being able to make the voyage.

But the croaking prophets were mistaken, the Technical World says. For while the Detroit was buffeted about by wind and wave until at times the doughty mariners confessed sharing the fears of the wiseacres, the launch—it was little more—poked its nose into Queenstown harbor, with scarcely a sign of hard usage, just 21 days days and 16 hours after setting out from New York. This was the longest continuous trip ever made by a motor boat, and until then regarded as an impossibility, if for nothing else than the inability to carry a sufficient supply of fuel.

The Detroit was not designed for beauty, strength and seaworthiness being the chief considerations. It was 35 feet over all, with nine-foot beams, five-foot six-inch draft, and a displacement of about 12 tons when fully equipped and loaded. It had a two-cylinder two cycle motor, developing 16 horsepower and capable of driving the boat a trifle more than six miles an hour. In addition it was fitted with a 32-foot mast and sufficient sail if occasion should arise.

The question of fuel supply was solved through the installation of seven tanks, with a combined capacity of 1,233 gallons of gasoline, two of these tanks being located on deck amidships, the rest in the hold. With a volcano like this under foot, every precaution had to be taken to guard against fire. Captain Day was the only man to carry matches, and smoking was positively prohibited. Cooking was done on a stove heated from the exhaust to the engine, the device proving entirely satisfactory. Only once on the entire trip was there danger from fire, and then the blaze was extinguished before any harm resulted.

A few days out from New York the Detroit was caught in a blow, and the shaking up revealed the fact that the 250 gallon freshwater tanks had not been properly cleaned before filling, the stock becoming brackish. Once on the voyage a big transatlantic liner was halted and requisitioned for a supply of drinking water. Aside from this, and continued rough weather that repeatedly sent even the most seasoned to their bunks, no inconvenience was experienced by the three men who assisted the captain as crew. The boat did not prove to be a good runner in heavy seas, but it made up for all this when it came to lying to and riding heavy seas. The low midship deck proved a defect, for the boat slipped water on slight provocation, although this did not interfere with the motor's operation.

The Detroit cleared from Detroit, running across Lake Erie, through the Erie canal, down the Hudson and to New York, where several days were spent in preparation for the dash across the Atlantic. Queenstown was reached three weeks later, the running time between the two ports being exactly 21 days 16 hours. A few days at Queenstown and the Detroit proceeded to Cowes, thence to St. Petersburg by the way of the English channel, the North and Baltic seas. The Russian capital was reached in less than two months after the departure from New York. Something more than 7,000 miles was covered in this remarkable voyage of nearly one-third the distance around the earth.

Just Fishing.
Capt. George Walker, an amateur yachtsman of Savannah, says he used to have dark hair on his Georgia plantation who loved ease and fishing. When he wasn't fishing he was loafing.

One night there was a rain almost heavy enough to be called a downpour and the next morning all the low places on the plantation were flooded two feet deep. Passing the negro's cabin, Capt. Walker found him seated in an easy chair at the kitchen door, fishing in a small puddle of muddy water that had formed there.

"Henry, you old fool," said Capt. Walker, "what are you doing there?" "Fishing," said Henry, "I've just fished a little."

"Well, don't you know there are no fish there?" demanded Capt. Walker. "Yas, suh," said Henry, "I know dat. But dis here place is so handy!"

Arresting the Soul.
As a rule the Polish people are very fond of their pastor. They would love him still better if he was not obliged to attend the dying, a service the soul rewards by following him. Therefore, when a peasant meets his pastor anywhere outside of the village he steps behind him and throws a bit of cord or handful of hay on the shadow of the clerical gentleman. This is called "arresting the soul." For the soul gets entangled in the cord or hay and can no longer follow the priest entering houses, gardens, etc., where it might do mischief."

A FINE TOUCH.

One of two darkies who run a boat-black "parlor" in partnership was bragging of his well-developed sense of touch, particularly in the matter of money. He boasted that he could tell the denomination of any United States coin merely by feeling it. His partner wearied of these boasts and came back with this:

"Your sense o' feelin' ain't nothing to my friend Marcus. Him and me used to work on the Pullman down through Kansas. Marcus had been on this route for about ten years. One night when we was both a-sleepin', long around midnight I wakes up and I shakes Marcus and I says: 'Marcus, where are we?' An' Marcus he jest rolls over and sticks his hand out the window and he says: 'We're goin' through Oswego.'—Everybody's.

Wise.

"So you have determined to sue me for breach of promise?"

"Yes."

"With damages?"

"Of course."

"Well, say, I've got just one favor to ask of you. Don't sue me for less than $100,000. I haven't got a dollar in the world that I can call my own, and it might help my credit."

A State Wide Invitation

Monster Barbecue to Be Given by J. N. Camden
at Versailles, Aug. 20, 1913

THIS meeting of farmers and their friends who are interested in the agricultural advancement of Kentucky is to be held that every one in the state may become acquainted and "mix elbows" with his neighbors and friends. It is to be a great farmers' convention, a place where, besides the "getting together," there will be speakers who really have something to say to the men who get their living from the soil.

In the past a barbecue, with its inter-jolts of smoking juicy meat and its bubbling steaming barbeque, meant political speechmaking and a warming of party spirit. This immense barbecue is a definite effort to give the farmers of the state a chance to meet and get acquainted and to hear some of the strongest speakers in the whole country discuss vital farm questions. These speakers will be brought to the meeting from the north, south, east and west, and, as they are to be limited to thirty minutes each, they will be sure to send their messages home in quick, short sentences. The list of speakers is about completed and will be given in full in the next article, which will be published soon. Kentucky is thoroughly aroused educationally, and this meeting is an outgrowth of this great wave of enthusiasm.

When your correspondent visited the Camden farm, just outside of Versailles, a few days ago he was shown the various points of interest that the visitor might wish to inspect. Competent men will be in charge of each farm department so that questions by visitors may be answered quickly.

In visiting the dairy barn, with its carefully selected herd of seventy-five Jerseys, it was pleasing to note that the barn had originally been used for

J. N. CAMDEN.

VERSAILLES, KENTUCKY.

TO THE FARMERS OF KENTUCKY.

For a quarter of a century the great problems of manufacturing and of transportation have been handled upon the advice of experts—men whose accurate and scientific knowledge extends to the minutest points.

In the past few years able men have realized that farming could be put upon the same basis—that instead of being of necessity a haphazard enterprise it is one of the most scientific businesses in the world—that it may be as accurate and as reliable as those processes of nature upon which it depends.

It has been realized also, that the principles of co-operation which have worked out such great things in the industrial world, may be used with equal effectiveness in the realms of agriculture.

To aid in the rapid spread of these ideas and principles seems to me to be a most useful and noble work, and one in which I would gladly have a part in Kentucky.

With this thought, I have decided to give an old fashioned barbecue at my home in Woodford County, near Versailles, on Wednesday, August 20th. It will be my aim to have matters along the lines I indicated discussed by some of the great agricultural experts of the country, and it will be my hope that this may give fresh impetus to the work in Kentucky for the farmers which is already so well begun.

Every Farmer, and every farmer's wife, and every one interested in better farming, in the state, who feels an interest in increasing the rewards of agriculture, and in bettering the conditions of farm life, is most cordially and urgently invited to be my guest on August 20th. This invitation is given in the spirit of good fellowship, and the desire to help, and all who accept it will be most warmly welcomed.

Very sincerely,

J. N. Camden

horsing tobacco. It was not a show barn at all, but a thoroughly sanitary barn, with the emphasis on the cow end of the enterprise. Out in the woods pasture there were several bunches of the sleek steers, some of which were destined to help feed the hungry crowd on Aug. 20.

The woods pasture, with its giant oaks, poplars, walnuts and stately elms, is an ideal place to handle the 30,000 people who are expected to be the guests at the farm on the day of the barbecue. On one end of this pasture there is a perfect amphitheater for seating those who wish to hear the speakers and the band concert which is to be provided.

Things are happening in our dear old state. Better schools are building, better roads are being laid. Educational meetings for farmers are developing, and now a barbecue to which an invitation is given to each and every person who believes in the welfare and the future of the agriculture of the state is an unshaken fact. Men of vision are dreaming of a new Kentucky—a twentieth century Kentucky—and all the agencies mentioned are bringing the "dream closer each day. Dreams do come true."

"Swank, swank? What is this swank you hear so much about?" Inquired a Harvard freshman of his big brother graduate at the Harvard club.

"Why, swank means 'putting on side,' of course," replied brother.

"And what does 'putting on side' mean?"

"If you really want to know," was the reply, "both of them are Pleadably for the good old Missouri phrase 'throwing the dog.' Now keep quiet."

Might Have Done Worse.

"Hello, old man," greeted a tactful friend. "Glad to see you looking so well. I can't pretend that I haven't heard the news, and you will allow me as an old friend to say that I'm sorry your wife ran away from you."

"Thanks," groaned the other. "But after all, she might do worse than she has done, you know."

Backward.

"In China everything is done backward," said the wise guy.

"Not now," protested the old fogey. "China is a republic."

"What of it?" demanded the wise guy. "They went to work and freed themselves and then, after establishing a republic, they issued a declaration of independence."

HOT ONE.

No Profit in Alligators.

The difficulty about raising alligators to supply the demand for the animals and skins is that they do not attain full growth for about 100 years. The skin of the six or seven-year-old animal is available, however, for many practical purposes. There is one on a farm at Palm Beach which measures 18 feet in length and is said to be about 900 years old. There are several of these farms in operation at the present time, but the industry will not be really profitable until the wild alligators become scarcer.

BALD HEAD CLUB MEETS

Five Members Nominated for Seats in the City Council.

FIRST MEET FOR SOME TIME.

Held at Edgewater Park Saturday Night and Notification Committee Named.

Promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night on the veranda of the bath house at Edgewater Park, President Green Champlin called the Bald Head Club to order by the glare of electric lights, supplemented by the soft glow of the dog star in the South.

I want to be serious to-night, said the President, and I want to call your attention to the fact that the brightest star in the entire constellation is the most Sirius. So if any of you want to be bright, cut out the funny business and let us for one time surround ourselves with air of solemnity and seriousness.

These are indeed serious times. Wars and rumors of wars fill the earth. The Mexicans, who used to have a revolution every two years now have two revolutions every year. The Balkans that combined to whip Turkey fell out over the spoils and Turkey, like its namesake of the buzzard family, is quietly perched on a limb waiting for the dinner bell when the fight is over. Even the Chinese are trying to start something in the fighting line and our old friend Castro has broken out again in Venezuela. Here in our own country we are threatened with epidemics of hookworms and liars. The hookworm, that insidious germ of laziness, threatens to exterminate the germs of work until the drones in the hive of industry have all the front seats, and living expenses are up in a balloon.

But there are some people who are working overtime—the Disciples of Ananias. Every Ananias Club in the country has doubled its membership and a dark horse prevaricator in Washington has forged to the front until he has the honor of having been called a liar by 87 different statesmen. Mulhall has made our greatest champion liars green with envy and the campaign liars have been abroad in all their glory. With campaigns all over the State and two sets of candidates furnishing campaign thunder for the real storm in November, there has been something doing every minute and this Club has been taking its vacation out in the woods. Now that the 1st of August have come and the candidates have been thinned down to two in a hill, there is time for something else besides politics and I have called this august 2d together to try to beat some sense into the heads of some of the members. If any man present can open his mouth without putting his foot in it, I am ready to entertain any motion he desires to make. At this point Colonel Ike Hart, who was sitting on a diving board, made a motion to get up and fall into the river. The Colonel has learned to swim since the river has been improved and was able to swim out, pulling himself onto the platform, he shook himself and resumed his seat, apparently none the worse off for his involuntary bath.

President Champlin was visibly annoyed by the interruption, but didn't knock on the Colonel, explaining that he was no longer the official knocker for the town. However he said any member who desired to, would be allowed to make a pertinent comment.

Col. Dick Holland said about all he had to say was that Ike was in "a damp bad fix."

Col. Bill Howell said, "Ike, I'd ask you for a match, but I know it wouldn't strike."

Several other members were clearing their throats to take part in the discussion of Col. Hart's Sad Flight, when Col. Major Wooldridge rushed upon the scene waving a piece of paper in his hand and shouting, "Bob's Got It, Bob's Got It, by three times thirteen."

As soon as he could be quieted he explained that his distinguished brother ex-President Robert M. Woolridge had been made the victim of a popular uprising and the nomination, from the Sixth Ward had been thrust upon him.

"Does he know it?" asked Col. Bill Wilgus.

"I haven't told him yet."

"Then don't tell him. Let's spring it on him as a surprise at the next meeting and notify him officially."

Col. Wilgus moved that a committee of five be named to officially notify Col. Wooldridge of his nomination and urge him to accept.

The motion was adopted by a rising vote.

Before the committee could be named, Col. Mose Elb, leaped from an automobile and brought in the startling intelligence that an entire council of bald headed men had been nominated with but one exception. The motion was then made to include the other nominees who were members and to make the occasion the most important event in the history of the Club.

President Champlin appointed on the committee Colonels Bill Wilgus, Bill Hancock, Bill Howell, Bill Cooper and Bill Bowles.

The following nominees, all members of the Bald Headed Club, will be officially informed of their nominations at some meeting of the Club to be held in the future: Col. Charlie Gee, Col. Sam Buckner, Col. J. A. Suthall, Col. Bob Wooldridge and Col. Bailey Russell.

There will be something doing when the committee and candidates are matched in an oratorical bout of five rounds.

It will most likely be held at the Virginia Park Pavilion and the public invited.

Excitement is intense and expectation on tip-toe.

A Card.

Gracey, Ky., Aug. 6, 1913.

To my friends:

While I bow in humble submission to the will of the voters of the Republican party, and as I go down in defeat for the nomination for the office for which I was a candidate, I want to thank my many friends that were so kind to me while making my race, and also thank those that gave me their support, and say to all that I started out to make a clean and honorable race, and I can truthfully say that I have done nothing that was dishonorable, while making the race, and would rather be defeated than do anything that would be dishonorable.

As I said in the beginning, I was making the race alone, and depending on my friends to give me the nomination, all without promise from me other than fair and honest dealings with my fellow man.

Though I am defeated, I am still a Republican, and want to take off my hat to my friend, Leonard E. Fowler, and wish him good luck for the November election, and say to him that I am for him and the old republican party, for November.

And remember, those of you who were so kind as to vote for me, that you voted for a straight forward and honorable man. So again thank you one and all for your kindness and support, with this I close.

When we come into this world, we are little and bare. As we go through this world we have trouble and care.

When we leave this world, we go, we know not where, but if we are alright here we will be alright there.

Very truly yours,

HUGH C. McGEE.

DR. BLAKEY MODERATOR

Bethel Association Concluded Two Days Session Yesterday at Auburn.

The 89th session of Bethel Baptist Association was held at Auburn Tuesday and Wednesday, with 39 churches represented and about 100 messengers in attendance.

Dr. T. W. Blahey, of this city, was elected Moderator, although he protested that he did not want the office. Rev. H. E. Gabby, also of this city, was elected Assistant Moderator and Rev. Logan B. English, of Salem church, was made clerk.

The routine business of the association occupied two days. Rev. J. E. Baldwin preached the annual sermon Tuesday night. All of the visitors were entertained by the people of Auburn and bountiful dinners were served near the church both days.

It was expected that Locust Grove church, at Church Hill, would be selected for the meeting next year.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly.

No Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress.
The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago
you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and any body can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you
now. The Thrice-a-Week World al so abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, car toons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S
regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

DE LESSEPS PALACE

Colon, C. Z.—"The engineer's dream of the centuries has been realized." Everyone who writes of the Panama canal feels bound to use that phrase, and though it is trite, it is no less true.

Possibly when Balboa first stood on the "Peak of Darien" and gazed entrance at the waters of what he called the Southern sea the thought of cutting through the Isthmus came to him. Certainly, within three years after his great discovery or in 1516, he had transported two ships, in pieces, across from the Atlantic to the Pacific and there put them together.

It could not have been very much later that the idea of an Isthmian canal was born, for during the reign of Phillip II. of Spain (1556-1598) the Inquisition declared that any such project to alter the face of the earth was impious, and the Spanish ruler forbade its further discussion. The ban of the church was effective for some time, but in 1699 a Scotman of the name of Patterson revived the scheme, established a colony on the shores of the Isthmus and even made a crude survey of the proposed route. Caldonian bay, on the north shore of Panama, alone preserves the memory of that attempt. French scientists in 1735 advocated a Nicaragua canal, fifty years later the Spanish government ordered a survey of the Darien route, and early in the nineteenth century von Humboldt declared canal was practicable. In 1825, immediately after Latin America had freed itself from Spain, the Central American and United States Atlantic and Pacific Canal company was organized, and one of the directors of the concern with the high-sounding name was DeWitt Clinton. Various schemes were started and fell through, and in 1835 the United States senate voted for the building of a Nicaragua canal. An expedition was sent to that country and reported that the canal could be constructed at a cost of $25,000,000.

After the Civil war there was much negotiating by our government for a canal concession, but when the Nicaragua route seemed to be the favorite the Bogota government became impatient and gave the concession for a Panama canal to Lucien Napoleon Bonaparte Wyse, a French lieutenant. He made some maps and organized a company which sold out to the financiers with whom Ferdinand de Lesseps had associated himself.

Albert Edwards in his admirable book on Panama thus describes the beginning of the tragedy of de Lesseps and his company:

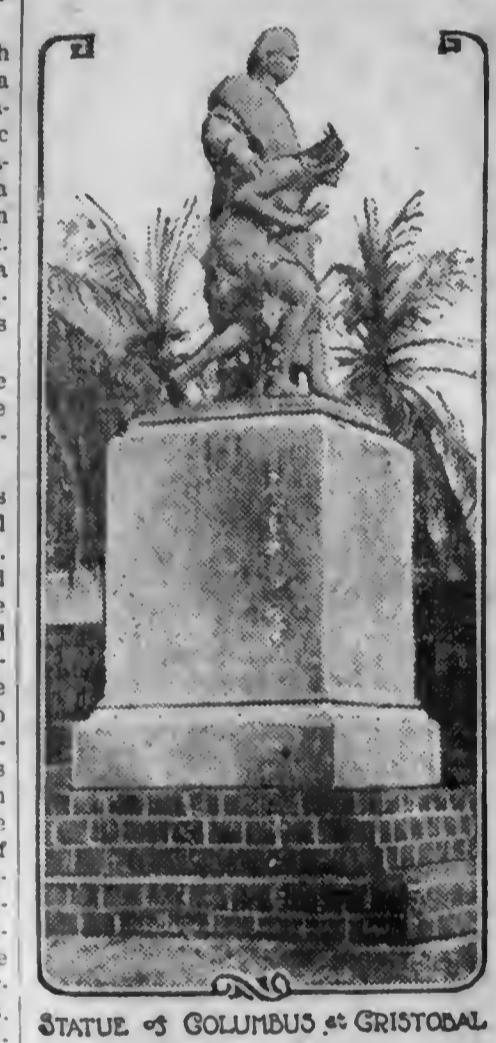

"The digging of the Suez canal was the accomplishment of his life. All his vigor and energy had gone into it. He came back to Paris literally carried on the shoulders of his nation. The government made him 'comte' and the people called him 'le grand Francia.' But he fell among thieves. The old man tumbled blindly into the trap of speculators, who foresaw a rich harvest in the drawing together of his great name and the shady concession of Lieutenant Wyse. They set the stage by summoning the scientists of the world to a great congress to discuss an Atlantic-Pacific canal. Although it was called a 'scientific' congress, most of its 136 members were speculators and politicians. Only forty-two were engineers or geographers. They elected Count de Lesseps, railroaded through a resolution that the Panama route was the only practicable one, and formed the Universal Inter-oceanic Canal company by buying the Wyse concession for 10,000,000 francs, before the bona fide members of the congress knew what had happened and in the face of much protest. There can be little doubt that the congress was packed like a ward caucus, and there is no evidence that de Lesseps realized that it was.

"The company was launched with many banquets, florid speeches by le grand Francia, and champagne without end. And all the time those who were on the inside were playing the market from both ends, sending the stocks tumbling down the steps of the bourse on a manufactured report that the United States was again waving the Monroe Doctrine, shooting them up again with a misquotation from the president's message to the effect that we were enthusiastic in favor of the French enterprise. A sorrer exhibition of conscienceless finance has seldom been seen."

Old de Lesseps, however, was in earnest. He sent over engineers who discovered that Wyse's maps were inaccurate and that yellow fever was deadly. Then in December, 1879, the count himself, with his wife and three children, arrived from France. After receptions and speech-making in Colon he crossed to Panama, and there, on January 1, 1880, the formal opening of the canal was performed with elaborate ceremony. Mile. Ferdinand de Lesseps struck the first blow of a pick-ax at the point where the canal was to enter the Pacific, each of the party followed with a blow, and there was a vast quantity of applause and champagne.

From the very first the French company was beset with troubles. As the canal was not a government undertaking the work had to be let out to contractors, and many of these proved to be dishonest. They would take out the soft dirt, collect the stipulated price per cubic yard, and then go into bankruptcy. At Bogota the politicians not only exacted the usual blackmail, but annoyed the company with all manner of litigation, the native courts invariably ruling against the French. Worst of all, perhaps, were the yellow fever and malaria, which killed off the engineers and laborers by the thousand. In the last three months of 1884 the death rate per thousand was nearly 100, and in September, 1885, it reached 176.97. Sanitary science had not yet learned how to cope with these diseases, and there is every reason to believe that their ravages alone would have been enough to insure the failure of de Lesseps' enterprise, without the gross extravagance and the dishonesty that characterized the work.

"The crash came in 1888," says Mr. Edwards. "After eight years of brave a fight as man had ever made against nature, the bubble burst. It is estimated that stock had been issued to the value of two hundred and fifty million dollars. It is doubtful if half this sum ever got near enough to Panama to be expended on actual work. Most of this paper was held by French peasants and people of moderate means. They had been led into it by the great name of de Lesseps. You may be sure that none of the original promoters were caught with stock on their hands when the final break came. The scandal was immense. Many government officials were involved. The shame of it drove the old man—le Grand Francia—insane. He died a few years later in an asylum."

The company went into the hands of a receiver who organized the New French Canal company, and this concern sold all its rights and property to the United States in 1902. Many of its buildings, ranging in size from de Lesseps' palace in Cristobal to houses for laborers, were found worth preserving and have been used by the Americans. The hospital buildings at Ancon and Colon were nearly all erected by the French.

When Uncle Sam took hold of the canal work, the jungle all along the route across the Isthmus was found full of expensive machinery abandoned to the ravages of rust and decay. Much of this was recovered and used in the earlier years of the American regime, and even now French dredges and locomotives may be seen at work there. Nearly all the old French equipment, however, has been sold to a Chicago wrecking concern which has been piling it up in orderly heaps and disposing of it as scrap.

Two parts of the actual work done on the canal by the French have proved of great help to the Americans. These were the dredging at the Atlantic entrance and the dry excavation in the Culebra cut.

The Love Letters of a Confederate General

WE begin in the November issue a series of real love-letters written over fifty years ago by one of our national heroes to his sweetheart during the period of '61 to '65. This great general will go down to posterity as having accomplished one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the world. He was as great a lover as he was a general, therefore these letters combine authentic history and exquisite romance. They add a human note that no other work of literature has done in a decade; it is war, it is romance, it is history, it is literature. You simply can't afford to miss this wonderful series—an inside story of the Civil War now published for the first time and containing all the freshness of a contemporary happening. These letters will grip you hard, and hold your interest from first to last. Fill out the coupon and send it now before you forget it.

Occasional Visitors.

A notable housekeeper of the last generation, before the days of screens, had just announced that she never had any fleas.

"But, Aunt Augusta," faltered the timid visitor, "it seems to me that I saw a few in the dining-room."

"Oh, those," replied her aunt, with a majestic wave of the hand, "were the neighbors' fleas. They come in occasionally. But, as I was saying, we never have any of our own."—Youth's Companion.

Taking No Chances.

Genial Squire—Many happy returns, William. I was just going to call on you with a little bit of tobacco.

William (aged eighty)—Thank ye kindly, sir, but I be done wi' smokin'.

Genial Squire—Why, how's that?

William—Well, I've heard that between eighty and ninety is a ticklish part of a man's life, so I be takin' no chances.—London Punch.

Recent Horror.

The Doctor—The janitor of the building where I live says his father and grandfather made their living by working at similar jobs in the old country.

The Professor (slightly irritated)—Well, what do you want me to say? That he follows in the footsteps of his projanitors?

No Wonder.

"My wife doesn't like him."

"And yet he's a very likable fellow."

"Yes, but he came to our house to dinner one day, and when my wife told him to make himself right at home he took off his coat and collar and lighted his pipe."

USUAL THING.

Mr. Hixon (on the way home from church)—You had a most intent and interested look in your expression during the services. Did the sermon impress you?

Mrs. Hixon—No, I guess I was trying to figure out how Mrs. Muchgold had her hat trimmed.

LOVE THE GAME.

Owensboro's Leading Stores Closed Yesterday.

Owensboro people love baseball and the fans got busy and induced the leading business men to close their stores at 2:30 to see the game between the home team and Harrisburg.

THE BABY SHOW

At the Fair Will Be a Great Ring.

The embryonic display of future farmers and professional men, as well as belles, will be a great feature at the approaching Peony fair. The ladies of the Civic League are after the fair directors to have the baby show put into the list of "attractions" and offer a suitable premium. Mrs. George Kolb, chairman of this special committee, reported last Saturday that the prospects for the baby show were flattering. At every fair where this show has been put on it has been a financial success, the gate receipts at many places being doubled. As Col. Roosevelt might suggest, why not have a twin show, too?

SMOOTH THIEF.

Locks Door After Making Haul and Departs.

Mr. Tom Taylor, of the Church Hill neighborhood, was robbed of a suit of clothes, a watch and some small coins a few days ago. Mr. Taylor locked the doors of his house and left home on business. On his return he found the doors fastened just as he left them, but the articles mentioned were missing. The supposition is that thief found the key which had been hidden, and, unlocking one of the doors, helped himself to the contents of the house, and then locking up, placed the key where he found it before departing.

TWO NEW TEACHERS.

Bethel Female College Faculty Is Now Complete.

Mrs. Katherine Trimmer Cliborne will take her old place in the faculty of Bethel Female College as teacher of Latin and French. Her selection and that of Miss Adelia Williamson for Mathematics completes the faculty for the fall session. Miss Williamson is a graduate of the City High School and of Bethel College and has recently taken a special course at the University of Chicago. Mrs. Cliborne taught in the College several years prior to her marriage a year or two ago.

Dr. Sandbach.

The people of Casy honored Dr. Sandbach last Saturday by electing him a school trustee. The salary is not sufficient to enable the Doctor to abandon his practice, but he will discharge his duties as well as if it were. Just watch him and see.

FISCAL COURT

Met in Regular Monthly Session Tuesday.

The Fiscal Court held its regular monthly meeting last Tuesday, all the Magistrates being present and Judge Knight presiding. With the exception of an order passed to borrow $10,000 to be used for various purposes, to be paid back to the Bank of Hopkinsville when the county begins to realize on the assessment for taxes for the current year, the other business transacted was not of general interest.

Meeting of Trustees.

A meeting of the Trustees of Bethel Female College will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the Planters Bank, to consider the new dormitory and the plans for building it this fall. The Trustees are Dr. C. M. Thompson, T. W. Blakey, Chas. M. Meacham, M. C. Forbes, G. H. Stowe, W. T. Tandy, M. L. Fugate, of Adairville; C. W. Garrett, of Bell's, and R. Y. Pendleton, of Pembroke.

Moved Stock.

The drug stock and druggist sundries have been moved from the store of the Coats Drug Company to the Anderson-Fowler store, Main and Ninth street. The fountain at the up-town store and refreshment department will be run by Mr. A. C. Overshiner, one of the new company until further notice.

Dr. E. M. Crutchfield Dead.

Trenton, Ky., Aug. 6.—Dr. E. M. Crutchfield, who died suddenly Sunday at his home in Hickman County, and was brought here last night, was buried in Glenwood at 11 o'clock this morning.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the ninth street Christian church this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CERULEAN SPRINGS

To Have Fiddlers' Contest Saturday Night.

A regular Old Time Fiddlers' Contest will be given at Cerulean next Saturday night, Aug. 9. The contest will be held in the Cerulean Springs Hotel Company's pavilion which has a large seating capacity. Some of the best old time fiddlers in that section will attend, including half dozen or more from this city and several from other points.

Rented Cottage.

Prof. L. E. Foster has rented one of the new cottages on Central Avenue, East of the High School building. Mr. and Mrs. Foster will take their first lesson in housekeeping, having boarded ever since their marriage.

Project Abandoned.

That South and Central American republics protested against the Nicaragua protectorate, and brought pressure to bear at Washington causing its abandonment, is the story going the rounds in Washington.

Better Gas.

The Kentucky Public Service Co. has completed its improvements at the gas plant and turned on the gas Monday afternoon. The gas is now much better and the prospects are that patrons will not be put to any further inconvenience.

Patient from Hickman.

G. W. Martin died at the State Hospital Tuesday of exhaustion with intoxication, aged 56 years. He was from Hickman county and had been in the institution only two days. The body was shipped to Clinton.

Superintendent Barkeda's Hamlet has appointed Miss Nannie Cross, of Henderson, to fill the vacancy in his office occasioned by the drowning of Miss Katherine Faxon.
